Madison Recreation Project Planned

Public to Raise Funds
For Outdoor Facilities
At Seventh St. Site

Madison Rotarians yesterday made plans to serve as chief sponsor of a project in which Madison residents, organizations and businesses will seek to develop grounds at the Seventh street recreation center into an outdoor sports and physical fitness area.

Substantial expenditures are proposed, with financing over a five-year period.

Active participation by other organizations will be sought after basic procedural plans are made at a Rotary luncheon discussion Feb. 14.

Variety of Courts

Tentative architectural plans call for construction of volleyball, tennis, badminton, basketball, horseshoe and shuffleboard courts.

President Harvey Miller named George Frangoulis as chairman of the project, which is to include an area occupied by the city swimming pool.

Madison officials say the unused pool would be too costly to repair and operate, noting that its past operation resulted in consistent deficits.

Every resident of the city of Madison is to be asked to contribute toward developing the block as a city-wide recreational complex, club members said.

It would be fenced and supervised at all operating times by employees of the city playground and a Recreation Commission.

Intangible Advantages

Rotarians believe the plan will not only benefit Madisonians of all ages but also will encourage a resurgence of fraternal and community spirit through the teamwork involved in raising the funds.

Churches, clubs, schools, the city and others are to be asked to take part.

The planning includes facilities for children, young adults and the elderly, and care would be taken to assure availability at convenient times for the various ages, it was reported.

And not all of the emphasis will be on physical competition. Comfortable benches are a part of the proposal, Rotarians said.

A club Valentine party was set for Feb. 21 at the Round Church.

Church Windows Broken

Two stained glass windows were broken during the night at the Peace Lutheran Church, 249 Starford lane, Rev. Carl Johnson, pastor, reported at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday. Damage was set at $120.

BIRTHS

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Hospital:

GIRLS
Mr. and Mrs. Marley Davis, 2135 Bryan avenue, Jan. 29, Melinda Faye, 7 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. David Falkenberg, Collinsville, Jan. 29, Angela Sue, 9 pounds 2 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtis, 317 East Chain of Rocks road, Jan. 30, Dawn Rochell, 6 pounds 5 ounces.

Boy, 12, Suffers 90% Burns When Clothing Ignites

Richard Doty Badly Burned

Richard Doty, 12-year-old son of Granite City Police Officer and Mrs. Robert Astorian, 3240 Edgewood drive, remains in serious condition today in the Intensive Burns Treatment Center, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. He was admitted there Monday evening after suffering extensive burns from ignited gasoline over almost 90% of his body.

Hospital physicians advised the family that the boy's condition can better be determined after the critical 72-hour danger mark is passed at 6:30 p.m. today.

The Coolidge junior high school seventh grader was alone in the basement, apparently working on a school project, when the accident occurred.

His father said the boy had asked about obtaining cardboard needed to make a figure for the project and was told some was in the basement.

Cause Undetermined

Astorian said he has no idea of the fire started. "All of a sudden we heard Richard scream. I ran down the stairs and threw a bucket into the basement screaming... his entire body on fire... his clothing... everything."

I grabbed him and held him down while I tried to smother the flames with some clothing my wife had washed and left in a hamper. At the same time, I threw a bucket into the basement sink, filled it with water and doused him... he was still burning.

The police officer said the clothing he was using to beat out the flames ignited, and he refilled the bucket and threw it over the child a second time. "At this point, my wife came down the steps with a blanket, but most of the flames were already out."

Astorian said a gasoline can had been in the basement storage area, where no one could reach it. "Somehow it must have fallen over," he said, adding that he had no idea how the gasoline ignited, or how it happened to spill onto the boy. There were

2 Landfill Operators Told to 'Clean Up'

County Issues Order After Chouteau Island Inspections Yesterday

Operators of two landfills on Chouteau Island were given until Monday to comply with the county landfill ordinance or face court action. The notices were given during an inspection Wednesday morning by county officials.

An inspector from the office of landfill administrator Jack Clifford, who had inspected the sites during the weekend, said conditions have deteriorated since then and if the operators of the Mal-Landfill Corp. and Chouteau Island Landfill Corp. do not clean them up, they will be prosecuted.

The inspector said an injunction suit would be brought in circuit court to prevent further operations, and that the operators would have to clean up the site.

Edwin Wagner, an island resident who was at the scene, said some areas of a half acre to an acre have not been covered for periods of one to four weeks.

State Notices, Too

The two sites were among six in St. Clair and Madison counties where operators have been notified that their operations do not comply with the rules and regulations of the state's refuse disposal law.

Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, sent notices that their landfills are not approved to accept Illinois or out-of-state refuse for disposal.

The notices included warnings that the department intends to proceed with enforcement as authorized in the refuse disposal law.

Dr. Yoder said establishing proper disposal of refuse is a problem facing local communities. He said landfills must be solved "if we are to cope with anticipated increasing volumes of refuse generated by a growing population and industry."

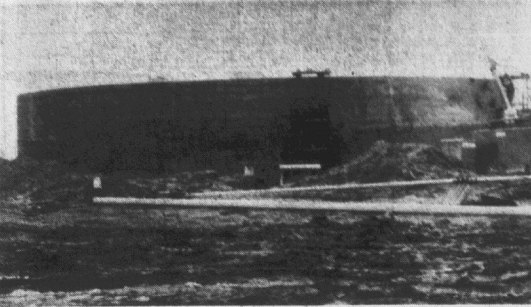

Clifford previously maintained that it is unfair for the state to come into the county and make a judgment on the landfills on a one-day inspection. He said landfills are broken down into two categories: below zero weather, causing a delay in covering refuse, and equipment to freeze and cause a delay in covering refuse.

"We told them to comply and within three to five days they had done so," Clifford said. Mrs. Grace Bourbon and Mrs. Eveleen Perkins.

Miller, who for years was active in the Granite City Rotary Club and was president of the Associated Retailers for two terms, said he plans to take it easy but will be back in the store for awhile after a vacation. Other employees also will continue, including Mrs. Grace Bourbon and Mrs. Eveleen Perkins.

Venice Groups Air Problems On School Issue

A three-hour meeting of Venice school officials, white parents and representatives of the all-Negro community of Eagle Park Acres ended on an optimistic note Monday evening as the delegations aired views and explanations of different stands.

However, with the school board's reaffirmation of its present policy which recently closed Lincoln school and transferred 213 elementary students to the Venice school on Broadway, the four Negro representatives registered their objections to the district's integration by this method.

Although there was no compromise, a basis for eventual agreement appeared likely after School Board President Michael E. Leatherman Jr. said three of the nine classrooms under construction at the Venice school could be occupied March 1 by children now housed in temporary quarters.

Picketing Continues

The Negro delegation agreed to report results of Monday's meeting to the others, some of whom continue to picket daily outside the Broadway school building.

No CORE representatives were present at the meeting. However, it was learned an official of the county chapter who resides in Eagle Park Acres, believed to attend as a delegate.

The delegates expressed belief that federal attorneys from the U. S. Department of Justice, who are to arrive here from Washington, D. C., within a few days, may disapprove the district's method of integration and will order Lincoln building to be reopened.

Pickets headed by Madison County Progress of Racial Equality (CORE) first appeared at the Venice school on Jan. 22, protesting re-assignment of children to the American Legion hall and the adjacent Boy Scout building.

The number of pickets demonstrated at the school has decreased from more than 35 on the scene last Wednesday. Eight were outside the building in the rain today.

Student attendance which fell off to 73% in the grade school on Monday has climbed steadily today, this morning, with attendance at the high school today is about normal, according to school officials.

Levee Budget Boosted $119,617

Bond Payments Down $19,438; General Fund Total is $1,141,955

A budget and appropriation ordinance providing $2,228,167 for general fund expenditures and bond payments during the 1968 year was approved in special meeting this morning by the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

The budget sets up $1,141,955 for general fund items and $1,086,212 for payment of bond principal and interest.

The general fund appropriation is an increase of $139,055 over the 1967 figure of $1,062,800, while the total of $1,086,212 for bond and interest payments is a decline of $19,438 below the 1967 figure of $1,105,650 budgeted for bond purposes last year.

This presents an overall budget increase of $119,617 over the total budget figure of $2,166,569 last year.

Bond Interest Drops

The budget lists scheduled bond principal payments of $780,000 this year, compared to $780,000 in 1967, but interest for the 1968 year drops to $201,212 from last year's $222,817 payment, accounting for the decline in appropriations for bond purposes.

All of the increase in the general fund results from an additional $150,000 item inserted in the 1968 budget to permit improvements in all of the district's projects. The ordinance specifies the money is to be spent with matching federal funds, grants and loans.

This additional project cost is $10,945 more than the overall $139,055 increase in the general fund budget, thus reflecting reductions in other budget items.

While the new budget lists some changes in project costs, and includes a few salary rises, the 1968 budget is a continuation of the 1967 budget in administration, engineering and maintenance costs.

The ordinance estimates available funds to be $1,141,955 in the general fund deficit of $1,086,212, while estimated expenditures will amount to $1,018,555. This will leave a general fund deficit of $145,662.

This amount will be absorbed by a substantial balance in the bonding accounts. The budget lists estimated available funds in the bonding accounts at $1,437,627. With expenditures fixed at $1,086,212, this would leave a balance of $1,249,762 after the general fund deficit of $1,086,212.

Only major change in the district's administration accounts is an increase of $1,000 in clerical salaries. Total appropriation for administration purposes for 1968 is $145,662.

Permit Issued By GC for First Village Apartment

The initial construction permit in the proposed $1,300,000 Granite City Village Apartments development was issued Monday to John A. Defford of St. Louis. Authorization for the permit was given by Mayor Partney after the developer had revised his plans to conform with the 150-foot R-3 single-family dwelling buffer strip.

The permit is for one 18-room, 2-story brick apartment building to be located along the proposed extension of Village lane away from the buffer strip. The town house apartment building contains two-bedroom units, and the cost of construction is $22,000.

It is one of 15 town house apartment structures planned for the 9-acre tract that lines south of the eighth addition to Cloverleaf off Pontoon road. Two weeks ago, the city council voted not to adhere to a City Plan Commission recommendation to remove 30 feet of the 150-foot buffer strip for the apartment structures. Defford planned to deed the remaining 100 feet to the city.

Mayor Partney said the developer, who has constructed two town house apartments in the St. Louis area, revised his plans and that construction of the first town house will begin as soon as weather permits.

Extra Quarters Donated

Use of both structures as temporary classrooms is being donated without cost. Both are in the same block as the grade and high school building.

Leathman pointed out that consolidation and full integration of the schools was approved by the U. S. Justice Department.

Federal authorities were notified earlier this month that the contractor's inability to complete the additional classrooms by the Jan. 22 deadline would necessitate assigning some children to temporary quarters in adjacent buildings. The type of building to be used was not spelled out in the change, from the original proposal, it was learned.

A call from a federal attorney in Washington last week, sought specific information on the temporary classroom accommodation with the caller, Miss Cassandra Filpper, notifying Supt. John O. Pier that a first-hand inspection will be made within a week to ten days.

"Be Patient" Urging the Negro representatives to carry back a complete account of Monday's meeting to Eagle Park residents, Leathman said, "All we are asking you to do is to be truthful with your people about the board's plans and aims. We also ask you to be patient—not just to go along with us—but to be patient."

"If we don't do the job we say we will, then it is time to protest. You are the leaders in your area."

Joe Roberts, 217 Hill street, a Democratic precinct committeeman, answered Leathman.

"As leaders, we can't do very much unless we can find out just what is going on."

He sought clarification on why the school district polling place had been removed from Eagle Park and inquired if his candidacy for the board in 1964 had caused its removal.

Leathman said this was not so. "If at all possible, we need a representative from Eagle Park to sit down with the school board and hear about problems affecting the entire school district, not just a racial problem or those confined to a specific area."

"I will do anything I can to get a representative from the Eagle Park community on the school board."

Monday's special meeting, held in the school library, was intended as a confrontation between a representative group of Negroes from Eagle Park, a pre-selected committee of white parents and Venice school board officials and administrators.

The meeting was held on hand for the session who had not been named to the mediation panel.

All, however, remained strictly as observers, with the exception of one Venice resident who was asked by Leathman to explain the objective of a petition which was circulated throughout the white community last September.

Circulation of the petition reportedly had angered Venice Negroes, who interpreted the document as a pressuring device that forced school authorities to alter their initial, tentative proposal—whereby Venice students from the 5th to 8th grades would be transferred to Lincoln school—to the present policy.

At a public meeting in October and again Monday night, Leathman denied that outside pressures from any source had influenced the board's ultimate decision.

Several Exchanges The petition entered into several exchanges between Leath-man and Eddie L. Salmoud, president of the Eagle Park Improvement Association, until clarification of its details was offered by Mrs. Betty Guffey, 207 Granite street.

Mrs. Guffey, who was present as an observer, stated the petition had requested a court hearing on the legality of the changes proposed by the school board in its plan to transfer certain grade school pupils to the Lincoln building.

An estimated 500 signatures were obtained, including some Negro residents, she said. Several members of the white parents committee said they had signed the document, while others stated they had not.

Mrs. Guffey explained the action had been dropped when the board announced the Oct. 2 public meeting which resulted in the present merger plan being adopted by school district officials.

Leathman opened Monday's meeting by reviewing events leading up to consolidation of all classes in the Venice building and the district's plan to establish a vocational training school at Lincoln, operated with federal and state funds.

Leathman's Statement "We have experienced a great deal of turmoil within the past two weeks, and I believe the board's position should be restated... why we elected to do what we did and just why things are, as they are today," the board president said.

"After the initial order by the Justice Department to integrate the school system, we hashed and reshaped the problems and adopted a position, which, in the long run, we truly believed would benefit the entire school district and the community. Our primary intention was to educate, not to integrate, but we have to comply with federal regulations."

Leathman continued, "Despite some dissension on the board, we finally agreed to construct the new classroom addition at Venice school and provide our own people and others in neighboring communities with a vocational school at the Lincoln facility."

"Do you realize that for maintenance, janitorial services and utilities, operation of Lincoln school cost is in excess of $35,000 each year? Only 220 grade school students were attending Lincoln at the time we made our decision and a total of 213 pupils were transferred to the Venice school last Monday, Jan. 22," he said.

"While we still own the building, the State Office of Public Instruction and the Illinois Department of Public Aid have agreed to assume responsibility for operation costs at the school and to install equipment necessary for a vocational training program."

"Not Neglecting Child" "It seems, the prime concern of those against this action is the thought that we are neglecting the child's welfare. This is not true," Leathman said.

"It is true that some children are housed in temporary quarters at the Legion hall and in the Boy Scout building. However, we believe the contractor's promise that three classrooms will be finished by the end of this month. If the contractor installed a roof on the new classroom area today and inclement weather will no longer hinder completion of this portion of the construction project."

Another white parent pointed out that he would object to his child going to Lincoln as his only facility within a block of the Venice school, and another stressed that integration wasn't the problem; it was sending children, most of whom reside within walking distance of the Venice school, to the Lincoln building.

Leathman stated a majority of the children, who previously attended Lincoln, was transported by school bus.

Rev. Willie Harper, a member of the Negro group, said, "We should work harder to try to get to the root of this and other problems. The trouble is... too many hints and not enough true facts. We have to learn to face reality from both sides and a great improvement must be made."

Other facets of disagreement brought up by the Negro group, involved cafeteria facilities at the Venice school, which Leathman described as "unsanitary" with gymnastic equipment strewn about.

Leathman said the cafeteria has always had a good rating from state school lunch inspectors, but offered to clear some of the equipment from the cafeteria area, which doubles as the school gymnasium.

New HS, Jr. College Prospects of needing a new high school before too long, and possibility of re-introduction of the Junior College proposal, thereby precluding the need for a vocational school, were points discussed.

In answer to a question from Roberts, Supt. John O. Pier stated that junior and senior high school students will receive vocational instruction at the Lincoln facility.

"We plan to have instructors from local industry participate, plus an advisory group composed of industrial and union people who can tell us the type of training a youth needs to be well-qualified in order to secure a job after high school."

man's integration. We are not concerned about groupings, but what is in the best interest of the young. You must face reality. It is through your decision to close Lincoln that has caused this friction in the community."

Leathman said he did not believe the friction and confusion is justified. "Some people don't fully understand the board's position," he stated, "even some of your own people in Eagle Park have told me they approve of the board's action."

Keeping Children Home Roberts told those present he has two school-age youngsters who "will not attend classes until this thing is straightened out and the pickets leave. With bomb threats and radicals standing outside, my children are scared and until this is settled and a lot of other parents feel the same way," he said.

At this point in the meeting, members of both factions, together with the board officials, commenced the meeting with personal views on the situation.

Rev. Dan Williams, pastor of Venice Methodist Church, commended the Negro delegation for their concern and for sitting down to discuss mutual problems.

Stating that she would approve whatever the school board decides, one white parent commented she would not have objected if her child had been assigned to Lincoln, provided transportation and good food were furnished.

"However, I admit, I probably would have talked about it a lot."

Another white parent pointed out that he would object to his child going to Lincoln as his only facility within a block of the Venice school, and another stressed that integration wasn't the problem; it was sending children, most of whom reside within walking distance of the Venice school, to the Lincoln building.

Board of Review Asks Protests be Made in Person

The Madison county Board of Review will continue until Feb. 9 to receive individual protests of increased property assessments ordered by the review board, but will require that all such protests be made in person, Dale Hill, chief clerk of the board, told the Press-Record today.

Hill denied that the Board of Review has closed out the books of Granite City, Nameoki and seven other Madison county townships in which percentage increases were applied by the review board to certain assessments certified by the township assessors. Several Granite City residents complained that they had appeared at the board of review office to protest their valuations, but said they were told "it is too late" and that the assessment books had been closed.

"We had several instances in which the applicants wanted to file a written complaint and then have a hearing," Hill said.

Charged with Speeding

Morris McGee, 4088 Melrose avenue, was issued an arrest ticket on a speeding charge yesterday when police operated a radar unit at 19th street and Madison avenue. Also receiving a speeding ticket, there was Fletcher Tate, 2118 Iowa street.

"They already had appeared twice before the board and were turned down in both instances," Hill said.

Not Enough Time
Hill said there is insufficient time to receive written complaints and schedule hearings. "By the time we sent out notices we just couldn't cram the work into the time we have left to finish the books," he added.

Hill explained that complaints made in person can be "hand-died on the spot" and disposed of immediately.

The review board has received about 50 complaints from Granite City and Nameoki township residents, with most of them from Nameoki township, Hill said.

The board has until the Feb. 9 date to complete its books so that tax extension work can get underway in the county clerk's office.

Workshop on Mental Health Slated Friday at SIU-SW

The Mental Health Clinics and Specialized Services of Madison county in cooperation with Zone VII of the Illinois Department of Mental Health and the Madison County Association for Mental Health are conducting a workshop in Communications on Basic Needs of Madison County in the Behavioral Services, Friday at 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus.

The noon speaker will be Dr. Richard Wessler of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, St. Louis University. Dr. Wessler is on the research staff of the Behavioral Sciences unit of the University and will attempt to piece together the philosophies into a model action program to be validated by future study.

Mrs. Earl Gaylord, president of the county group, said these topics were chosen because they touch most of people's lives from birth to old age. How the community views its responsibilities in these areas is a reflection of individual attitudes to these serious problems. We need not elaborate the tremendous importance of work with children, but we are, within a few years, faced with equally important and perhaps more difficult work with the aged. If this workshop only stimulates thinking in this direction, it has achieved its goal.

Venice Council Meet Res Feb. 9

The regular meeting of the Venice city council scheduled tomorrow night will be postponed until the following Friday, Feb. 9, it was announced today by City Clerk William "Mike" Ebersold.

The postponement was requested by Mayor John E. Lee because of an extremely light agenda for tomorrow night's meeting and the fact that city officials are scheduled to appear again next Friday morning before the Illinois Commerce Commission in Springfield in regard to cost opportunities for the Broadway underpass project.

Lee said he and other officials would prefer to make an immediate report to the council on what transpires at the ICC meeting. By rescheduling the regular council session, the report may be made to the council upon return of the delegation of city officials from the ICC hearing.

The ICC heard pleas by the city of Venice for a change in the amount of cost of the underpass to be shared by the three railroads who will pass across the top of the structure. Under an order of 1964 the ICC fixed the railroad share of the cost at $100,000. Since then, because of delay in building the underpass, construction costs have increased at least 10% which should increase the railroad share of cost, Mayor Lee pointed out.

Depot Places 2 Nearby Taverns Off-Limits

Col. Charles E. Hoskin III, Granite City Army Depot commanding officer, today placed two taverns off-limits to all military personnel beginning Saturday. They are the Good Neighbor, 918 Niedringhaus avenue, and Sammy's, 921 Niedringhaus.

Both failed to agree at a meeting today to serve Negroes, Col. Hoskin said. The order is to remain in effect until their policies change.

Four mature sergeants in Class A uniforms, two white and two Negro, were denied service at one tavern this week; at the other, they were refused service and later were served beer at an increased price of $1 a bottle, the commandant said.

Chiefs Edge Braves, 2 Share Loop Mat Title

The Prather junior high school Chiefs defeated the Coolidge junior high school Braves in a Madison County Junior High School Conference meet 23-22 and gained a tie with the Braves for the Conference title yesterday at Prather. Each finished with five team wins and one loss, the Braves having taken an earlier meet from the Chiefs.

Last season a Prather win also would have caused a conference tie but Coolidge won the final meet and was undisputed champion.

The Chiefs won the first meet yesterday as Richard Madrid (87 pounds) defeated Brad Cross 3-0, Coolidge's Lenny Fuchs (95) outpointed Leo Robertson 7-0 to finish the season undefeated.

The next two matches went to Prather on decisions by Mike Polley (103) over Mike Garland 8-1 and Dale Minner (112) over Tom Eaton 7-6.

Prather's Norris Egbert (120) lost 13-0 to Keith Rogers but Prather won the next three bouts—Jerry Petrillo (127) over Tom Mitchell 14-2, Steve Hollic (133) over Dave Roland 10-0 and Ricky Wickham (138) over John Tarpoff 7-0.

Coolidge's Ken Simon (145) beat Rich Howell 9-0 and then Harold Schannott pinned Carl Earls in 4:36 for the last Prather victory and a 23-9 lead.

Coolidge needed three pins to pull out a one-point victory but in effect got two pins and a decision, Jeff Parker (165) pinned Bruce Burnett in 1:04, Chuck Thomas (180) won 6-1, and the heavyweight class was forfeited to Coolidge.

Kevin Pryor, 12, Collecting Skeet Shooting Trophies

Some boys like baseball, football, soccer, golf, basketball, wrestling, swimming or ice skating, but Kevin Pryor, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pryor, 1712 Ferguson avenue, prefers shooting skeet. His choice may well lead to a second hobby—collecting trophies—because they are beginning to accumulate.

He won the 29-gauge sub junior championship and the 12-gauge junior championship held this winter at the Winchester-Bridgeton gun club in Missouri. His coach is his father, who at one time was the runnerup champion of Missouri. Pryor is a painting contractor in Granite City.

Kevin won a shooting jacket the week before Christmas, and his father won a television set for shooting.

Earlier last year, Kevin captured a sub junior championship and was runnerup in the men's division at the St. Louis Trap and Skeet club, Pacific, Mo.

Pryor gives an illustration of his son's interest: "Kevin knew that he had won at Bridgeton, so before the judges called his name to come up and get his trophy, he was on the range practicing with a 410 shotgun. He hit 20 of 25 clay birds, which is really something with that small bore gun. The announcer said he evidently would rather shoot than get trophies."

Enrollment at SIU Swelled by Transfers

An influx of transfer students and junior college graduates is credited for a nine per cent jump in Southern Illinois University's winter quarter enrollment over the same period a year ago.

Registrar Robert McGrath at Carbondale reported 26,796 students in attendance at SIU's two campuses, an increase of 230 over the 1967 winter term. This was recorded despite a local university gain of only 40 freshmen students.

The summary shows 18,684 students at Carbondale and 8,112 at the local campus. The transfer class, showing the major impact of junior college transfers, netted the biggest gain at 2,076. Total University enrollment in the graduate school is 4,030, a six per cent jump over last winter.

Overall enrollment was down slightly more than 1,000 students from SIU's record count when school opened last fall.

Not included in the residence totals are 592 students in off-campus extension classes and 362 registrations in non-credit adult education classes since last July 1.

Registrar Robert McGrath at Carbondale reported 26,796 students in attendance at SIU's two campuses, an increase of 230 over the 1967 winter term. This was recorded despite a local university gain of only 40 freshmen students.

Coronation, Talent Show Being Planned

The Junior Dramatics Club of Madison and Venice is planning the second annual King and Queen coronation with a talent show on Feb. 22 at Dunbar school.

The courses are open to all qualified high school students who are juniors or seniors during the present school year.

Complete information on the workshop and an application for enrollment may be obtained by writing Marion Kleinau, workshop coordinator, department of speech, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Teenager Record Spin Scheduled on Friday

A "record spin" for the teenagers will be held at Daffins Cafe, 1100 Douglas street, Venice, on Friday at 7 p.m.

"Little Joe" and Miss Jo Anne Owens will serve as host and hostess for the party.

A special menu of food and soft drinks is planned and all young people in the area are invited to attend.

Spaghetti Supper Set Saturday at Venice High

The Venice high school senior class will hold a spaghetti supper from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday in the school cafeteria.

Carry-outs will be available. Tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Twenty grim-faced young business men and women sat around the conference table wrestling over a serious problem. Their company was in trouble and as the board of directors, it was their job to find a solution.

The cause of their problem was obvious enough: the wooden wastebaskets their company manufactured simply were not selling. To make matters worse, their president and leading salesman was in the hospital.

Perhaps a new marketing procedure was needed. Why not try finding a department store which would buy their wastebaskets? Perhaps a sales booth or a trade fair would do the trick. Maybe they could do some direct consumer advertising to set up their door-to-door sales campaign.

At any rate, the board members agreed something had to be done. Company finances were tight. The conference adjourned worried but determined to improve the situation.

When it reassembled a week later the entire mood had changed. The company president had sold 50 wastebaskets to his fellow patients in the hospital; the vice-president in charge of sales had gotten his sales force moving and the company was loaded with more orders than it had seen in its previous six weeks of operation.

Not all companies can make such a quick comeback, but for the 16 teenage manufacturing companies at the Granite City Junior Achievement Center both the problem and the solution were typical. They have learned that only direct action and effort make a company solvent.

Jr. Achievement Week This week is National Junior Achievement Week and across the nation 130,000 high school sophomores, juniors, and seniors taking part in Junior Achievement programs are experiencing the same pitfalls and triumphs as the 300 teenagers in the local Junior Achievement program center at 3307 Wabash avenue.

Like all Junior Achievement companies, one of the first problems that faced the young business magnates when they met last fall was that of raising capital for operating expenses. This was done by selling common stock. Although few of the company members could explain the difference between a "bull market" and a "bear market" most learn by selling stock what it is and what it will do. Over 1,200 shares at a dollar a share were sold in the Granite City area this fall.

For most of the Achievers, selling stock like selling products is a direct, no-nonsense business but each junior broker realizes that his company is supposed to try to pay back the investor's money and preferably with interest. Dividends are limited to 10 cents on the dollar and sales are limited to one share per investor. Almost all companies are able to at least pay back part of the investor's dollar and most pay a dividend.

Some of the miniature companies have the capital they are ready to start manufacturing. Products usually sell from a general consumer need.

Company Staff Each company has about 20 members, including a president, the corporate secretary, a treasurer, a vice-president of sales, a vice-president of manufacturing, a personnel director and a safety director. All officers are elected by members of the company at the company's third meeting of the year.

"It is the officers' duty to keep the company going, and being an officer is a big responsibility," said John Lakin, center manager. Sometimes this means playing a General's role.

For example, he was a treasurer as pretty as Debra Harrison of Steelco which is a Wednesday night and is sponsored by Granite City Steel.

Miss Harrison, besides running her sleeves for two hours each week to keep the company's financial records in good stead, also served as the Granite City center's officer of honor recently at the Junior Achievement coronation ball. Her escort, Jerry Jackson, is Steelco's president.

One of the chief concerns of a company motivated. Sometimes this can be done by personal example as in the case of 17-year-old Mark St. Ivan of Amisco. So far this year Mark has sold $265 of his company's fudge and is shooting to beat his high 845 set two years ago, his first year in Junior Achievement.

To prove his case, Mark proudly points to his company's $1200 in sales, fourth high for all the Junior Achievement companies in the Greater St. Louis Junior Achievement area—237 companies in all. Amisco is sponsored by American Steel Foundries.

Mark, like most leading salesmen, has learned that success means drive and diligence coupled with a good approach to a prospective buyer.

When making a sales call a few weeks ago, Mark encountered a lady who did not like candy. This discouraging opening did not deter him from politely pointing out that his candy was homemade and perhaps some other members of her family would enjoy it. After a few more minutes of this approach, the sale was closed and Mark was a little closer to his goal of setting a new sales record for himself.

Patty Siebert, 16, vice-president of sales of Micco company sponsored by A. O. Smith Corp., used the same approach in selling her company's lipstick blotters. The would-be customer had neither a wife or a mother, but Patty soon found out he had a girl friend who used lipstick and made the sale.

Although sales determine whether or not the teenage companies will be able to pay back their investors and divide profits when they liquidate each spring, other aspects of Junior Achievement are also important.

As Vince Lohman, the coordinating adviser from American Steel Foundries points out, "We want them to learn the profit motive but it is also important that they get the overall picture of how a business operates."

Vic Hoffstad, 16-year-old vice-president in charge of sales of Dowco sponsored by Dow Metal Products, found out recently that it is necessary for a company to keep good records. Vic found himself charged with double the amount of merchandise he had been assigned to get sold and the vice-president in charge of production claimed that her figures were correct. The stalemate lasted until the company treasurer ran an audit of the books which showed that the same products had been signed over to Vic twice.

The by-products of learning to take responsibility, to get along with others, and to set definite goals also are a fundamental part of an Achiever's learning experience. "Junior Achievement gives them a feeling of pride in accomplishment and ownership," said Lohman.

As Patty Siebert explains, "I like to feel I've accomplished something and every time we do a good job in production and then go out and sell our product because we believe in it, I get this feeling."

"Junior Achievement shows you that when you have a goal, you have to get with it or you get nothing accomplished. I think I will carry this over into the outside business world."

As a secretary when she graduates from Granite City high school, a little more of the teen-agers feel that Junior Achievement has helped them get along with people and because of this they feel that they are better prepared to go into the business or professional world.

"The thing I like about Junior Achievement is that it gets you thinking about things you never even thought of before," said Hoffstad.

Author to Speak on Prisons, Convict Aid

Bill Sands, author of best sellers "My Shadow Ran Fast" and "The Seventh Step," will speak at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Communications building auditorium.

Onetime cellmate of Caryl Chessman, Sands spent three years in San Quentin. He has since headed a diamond expedition to Venezuela, been an airline executive, managed a hotel in Bolivia, coached a swimming and water polo team in Bombay, and been president of two corporations.

Sands decided that only by helping ex-convicts and juvenile delinquents could he find peace, so he returned to prison to devote his time to teaching convicts how to stay out of prison once they were released. He supports himself as a writer and speaker.

His Saturday afternoon lecture is based upon his life as a youngster and as a criminal and convict. A feature of the SIU-SW Artist-Lecturer Series, the talk is open to the public without charge.

Each sponsoring company provides a team of advisers who are experts in the various company functions. Advisers take part only in the capacity their name implies and mostly let the teen-agers run their companies themselves.

Those serving as Advisers this year are: From American Steel Foundries, Lohman; from Micco, Charles Deaver, Miss Constance Wallace, Louis Bican, Randy Basarich, William Rapp, Charles Harris and Gil Robeff.

From Granite City Steel Co., Jerry Range, coordinating adviser, James Fehne, John Sands, David Goff, Robert Hartmann, Lester Boyer, Joseph

Priest, Students Oppose SIU-SW Housing Policy

Students at the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus were urged to "forcefully oppose" an off-campus housing policy being enforced by the university administration and board of trustees.

At a meeting attended by about 100 students Monday afternoon, Rev. James Shortal, Newman foundation chaplain and Catholic member of the University Religious Council, said the university's housing rules are "extremely paternalistic." No one really adheres to the housing regulations anyway, he said, "and any law that's so universally disregarded ceases to have any effect."

He was particularly critical of the regulations which prohibit students of legal age from receiving visitors of the opposite sex in their rooms. "Some will fall by the wayside, but that is the price of freedom," he said.

The meeting was called by the Campus Government Club after the Student Senate passed a measure opposing housing regulations for students over 21 years old.

The university requires a single, undergraduate students living away from home to rent rooms in "accepted living quarters."

Kenneth Owens of Wood River, a student senator, said the university "has no right to assume parental authority when that authority no longer exists" because the student has reached legal age. How long are you going to accept not being a full citizen of the state?

William Clover, senate president, said teachers stress the necessity of accepting responsibility, but the housing regulations "only prolong adolescence for more years."

The administration was not represented at the meeting. The Government Club plans to submit signed student petitions opposing the housing policy to the board of trustees at its Feb. 16 meeting.

A fellowship supper will begin at 6 p.m., followed by the study hour at 7 p.m. Rev. Sims will show at 8 p.m. colored slides taken when he was a short-term missionary in Japan.

Wheat Program Signup Starts Monday in County

Although weather conditions this fall have prevented or reduced intended wheat seedings, some farmers may still qualify for certificate payment under the 1968 wheat program, Lee Rogers, office manager, Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, said today.

He reminded farmers that if at least 40% of the wheat allotment had been planted the farm would still earn full payment. "Of course," he said, "intentions to participate in the 1968 wheat program must be filed during the Feb. 5-Mar. 15, 1968 signup period and all other program requirements met."

Woman at the Well," and the children's sermon will be delivered at the last service by the associate minister, Rev. Dean Blackburn.

The offertory anthem during the last service will be sung by the Crusaders Choir under the direction of Mrs. James Loy.

Students Use Computer In Community Plans

Students of Southern Illinois University's southwestern campus will use a computer Tuesday as a substitute for time and experience in determining the outcome of their community planning.

The experiment will be conducted at 6:30 p.m. at the office of M. B. Corlew and Associates, general engineering and surveying firm of Edwardsville, by Carl Lousau, assistant professor of social sciences at the local campus.

The simulation, called Metropolis, is an outgrowth of a course on community development supported by Illinois' Higher Education Act of 1965. Lousau, who is moderator for the class which meets about every other Tuesday at the campus, said some 12 to 15 planning and zoning officials from the area will take part.

Added Costs for Break-In Cuts GC Steel Income in '67

The breaking in of major new facilities at Granite City Steel Co. added substantially to operating costs last year and had an adverse effect on the company's 1967 net income which amounted to $3,447,000, or $1.25 per share of common stock, compared with $10,286,000, or $2.39 per share, in 1966, Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman of the board and president, announced Wednesday at a meeting of the board of directors.

The directors declared the usual first-quarter cash dividend of 35 cents per share of common stock, payable March 15, 1968, to stockholders of record Feb. 23, 1968.

Business Was Slow
Veeder said the steel business "was slow throughout 1967." Granite City steel shipped 563,000 tons of flat-rolled steel products last year and had net sales of $141,490,000 compared with shipments of 1,063,900 tons and sales of $159,200,000 in 1966.

"Last year saw Granite City Steel complete one of the largest basic oxygen furnace plants in the U.S. and a tremendous 80-inch computerized hot strip rolling mill," Veeder said, adding, "It is not possible to break in manufacturing facilities this large and complicated without problems and a temporary period of dislocated plant operations and unusually high costs. That is what happened in 1967."

Veeder said the company also had unusual costs last year for training, training and other pre-startup preparations, and 1967 earnings "had to absorb higher employment costs, substantially higher net interest costs and higher prices for raw materials and services."

Outlook for '68 Good
"The demand for steel is much stronger in early 1968 than it was at any time in 1967," Veeder said. "General business conditions in the durable goods industries are better and steel users have started to build up their own inventories of steel in anticipation of a possible strike Aug. 1."

"The Granite City Steel order book should also benefit in the months ahead from favorable customer reaction to our removal of the geographic price differential last September which reduced the steel costs of many of our customers."

Veeder pointed out that Granite City Steel's "growth in relative size and importance in the steel industry has never been as pronounced as it was last year."

"We made a complete transition from open hearth furnace steelmaking to the faster, more efficient basic oxygen furnace method. We eliminated a major production bottleneck in our most important rolling department, the hot strip mill. We expanded our capacity to supply galvanized (zinc-coated) sheet steel products, the fastest-growing market we have."

"The other major new facility on our schedule is the iron ore mine and pellet plant being developed near Pilot Knob in southeast Missouri. The Pilot Knob Pellet Co., owned jointly by Granite City Steel and the Hanna Mining Co., will begin production in the second quarter of 1968 of a superior iron-bearing material—pellets which are 64% iron—for our two blast furnaces. Pilot Knob is designed to produce 1,000,000 gross tons of pellets a year."

MORE ABOUT

attract new industries to sites being offered by roads, utilities, governmental agencies and others.

The new transportation facilities have not been an unmitigated blessing. A raised highway such as the Interstate route does bring aesthetic disadvantages as its cuts through residential, recreational, and business areas, creating an immense visual and physical barrier in some neighborhoods.

Access to Network Possible

Of course, numerous U.S. communities would give their "eye teeth" to be next to a link in the vast Interstate highway network, which assures easy surface access to all major points in the nation.

Federal financial policies appear to doom most non-Interstate areas to less convenient and safe roads, by leaving the bulk of their costs to state, county and local-level governments.

As such "have" and "have not" differences become more apparent in future years, location near the Interstate system may prove to be a strong magnet to families, stores and manufacturers.

Metropolitan Growth

Also adding optimism to the long-range Mitchell area outlook is its location within the heart of the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area centered by St. Louis.

Viewed from the air, Chouteau township is one of the more sparsely settled areas of the circle of built-up territory composed of St. Louis and surrounding counties. The general tendency is for this to fill in solidly, regardless of state boundary factors, before the circle itself is substantially expanded.

With most residents and non-residents agreeing that the Mitchell area has a bright future, bolstered by its proximity to Southern Illinois University's southwestern campus, there is no full agreement at this stage on whether a municipal government would add to or detract from the present advantages and later potential.

This question will be largely decided by the majority of the votes cast in the Feb. 26 special election. Defeat of the proposal would block incorporation for a year. Approval would force establishment of a village government, for better or for worse.

Name Choice Difficult

As evident from this series of articles, it is hard to discuss the proposal without using both the words "Chouteau" and "Mitchell."

The area is in Chouteau township, from which the village proponents chose the name of the proposed municipality. The township itself is much larger.

having an assessment of $24,053.08, which includes the estimated $3 million valuation in the territory selected for the village election.

Never formally incorporated, Mitchell has become firmly established as the name of the settlement through many years of use. The name appears on maps as well as in the title of water and fire districts.

It was the existence of the term "Mitchell" that prompted the village backers to instead choose Chouteau, on the theory that this would avoid legal or other complications from confusion over the past unincorporated status.

If the incorporation plan is approved and the village acquires the eastern Mitchell area as well, the term "Chouteau" undoubtedly will gradually come into more prominent use than "Mitchell."

Not in East Side District

A clarification of tax projections shows that all or most of the initial territory proposed for the village is not in the East Side Levee & Sanitary District. A farmers' canal and levee system controls an assessment of $2 a year from most of the residents, however.

It had been estimated that an area of $3 million assessed valuation would pay $12,720 to the East Side Levee & Sanitary District based on a 42-cent rate per $100 assessment. Tax records show that the Chouteau township contribution to the East Side Levee & Sanitary District in 1966 taxes collected in 1967 was $8147.

The boundary of the East Side District goes as far west as the Chain of Rocks Canal at one point and ends at the Chouteau Slough area, follows a levee that curves northeastward. The line continues eastward until, again swinging northward at a point east of the former Mitchell railroad crossing.

The East Side Levee & Sanitary District does include much of the territory proposed for later annexation to Chouteau village if the village is created.

Overall Chouteau township tax rate per $100 valuation is $3.84 including the East Side District or $3.42 or excluding it. The latter rate total consists of $2.68 for the community unit school district, 28 cents for the township road and bridge fund, 12 cents for the Mitchell fire district and 12 cents for the township general fund.

Village Boundary Studied
Boundaries of the proposed new village also are receiving attention as residents of areas near the dividing line seek to determine whether they can vote in the incorporation election.

The shape is an irregular horseshoe or "U" that primarily takes in the western area of Mitchell.

Testimony at the first hearing on the incorporation petitions brought out that the middle part of the "U" is likely to be annexed and that it was omitted in order to keep within the two-square-mile limit for a new village.

The resulting connecting link, described as a 10x400-foot highway right-of-way area, drew a protest that the chosen territory lacked sufficient compactness and contiguity. Chief Circuit Judge James O. Monroe Jr. subsequently ruled that it met minimum requirements.

The initial village line begins at a point on Chain of Rocks road between former William E. Reuter property on the northwest and Joseph Franko property on the northeast.

Burton, Moleen Subdivisions

It follows this property line due north to the end of the Edward Burton subdivision and then due east to the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad tracks, which are followed south to Old Alton road.

The village boundary follows Old Alton road to the Moleen Acres subdivision, crossing Chain of Rocks road at the railroad tracks and connecting with County Highway 45, also known as an extension of Maryville road.

From there it follows a sawtooth pattern around lots in Cedar Park and joins Willow lane until reaching the western edge of the Cedar Park subdivision.

Township section lines are followed north and west to St. Thomas road. The line then traverses Veronica street, Federal Aid Route 151 (Great River road), Jean street and Rae street to its end.

Kiwanis Tour Services Center For Handicapped

Granite City Kiwanians toured the Specialized Services training center for the handicapped at 2007 Madison avenue on Monday evening with the result a number of new ideas are now being discussed by the men's service group on ways to provide further assistance to the center.

So far, the local Kiwanians have donated a planer-saw machine to the workshop.

Eighteen club members were escorted through the facility by Milton Morris, president of the center's advisory council and steering committee, and William Stacy, a foreman and training instructor.

Stacy demonstrated the skills being taught, while Morris outlined objectives of the program. In most instances, Morris noted, work at the center is the first employment many of the trainees have ever known. This furnishes them with a self-reliance and sense of responsibility which is carried over into other areas of their lives, he said.

One Kiwanian commented, "I believe every service and church group in the Quad-Cities should tour the center. It is very enlightening and would encourage those in a position to help, to provide some vitally-needed service."

Prior to the tour, club members met at the Rose Bowl for their regular dinner meeting.

Michael Toundas, president, conducted the brief business meeting.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of the following committee chairman: Melvin Gillie, boys' and girls' work; William Seebold, vocational guidance; Edward Moore, agriculture and conservation; Allen Jones, international relations; William Herman, public and business affairs; Bonard Maples, support of churches; James Schreier, finance; Herbert Schannot, house and reception committee; Garvin Butler, inter-club relations; Robert Lombardi, new club building and Kiwanis education and attendance committee; Marvin Barnes, laws and regulations; Freeman Wolfe, membership development; Alvin Gross, programs and music; and Roy Graham, public relations.

During a recent presentation ceremony, the following club members received perfect attendance awards: Melvin Gillie, 22 years; Roy Graham and Marvin Barnes, 17; Alvin Gross, 11; Roy Fedder and Freeman Wolfe, ten; Herbert Schannot, William Herman and Bonard Maples, nine; Michael Toundas, seven; Pete Jellen and Allen Jones, five; Wilbur Waggoner, four, and William Seebold, two.

Mrs. Scroggins Wins Gold 'Masquer' Award

Mrs. Beverly Scroggins of Granite City and Frank Joachimsthaler of Collinsville were honored as the most outstanding actress and actor for 1967 during the Masquers seventh annual awards banquet, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Scroggins received the gold "Masquer" award for her performance as "Lili" in the production of "Carnival," and Joachimsthaler, a second year winner of the award, for his role as "Paul" in the same production. Last year's actress winner was Miss Diane Nocheff, local school teacher.

Over 150 persons have appeared in the casts of two shows entered in the competition. "Brigadoon" was directed by James Swanick, president of the Masquers, and "Carnival" was directed by Mrs. Mildred Hoelscher of Granite City.

Named Twice on Same Charge; Gets 17 Days

Steve Palmer, 22, of 1123 Bissell street, Venice, was sentenced to 17 days in the county jail by Magistrate Mateosian yesterday following his second arrest in four days on a charge of driving without a driver's license.

Venice police reported they arrested Palmer at 4:15 p.m. last Saturday for driving without a valid driver's license. He was released on notice to appear in magistrate's court on Feb. 14.

Yesterday, Palmer was arrested on the same charge and taken before Mateosian on both charges. Mateosian sentenced Palmer to seven days in jail in the first arrest and ten days in jail on the second offense. Palmer also was assessed $10 in costs on each case.

$3 Million Libel Suit Dies, No Appeal Made

The suit was filed in February of 1965 by the Madison county zoning board of appeals and Jack Clifford, zoning administrator, after criticisms made by the league were read at a meeting of the county board of supervisors and published in two Edwardsville newspapers.

It was dismissed Dec. 1 by Associate Judge J. H. Strepper on the basis that the criticism of public officials is not libelous unless there is personal malice. At the time the Taxpayers League attempted to have the county zoning ordinance repealed.

Plaintiffs in the suit included Howard Kaseberg of Granite

Pine Seedlings Available For Rural Conservation

Pine seedlings are still available at state nurseries, the Illinois Department of Conservation announced today, and nurserymen do not anticipate any difficulty in filing orders.
The entire supply of ash and white oak at the state nurseries has been sold, however, and shrub dogwood varieties are no longer available for planting
this spring.

Two shrubs recommended for wildlife cover, multiflora rose and Siberian pea, may also be purchased from the state nurseries. An extra large multi-flora rose is being sold this year for $25 per 100 plants.
Autumn olive, another cover shrub, may be obtained in wildlife packets only.

Price lists and order blanks may be obtained from farm foresters, county conservation officers and county agricultural offices.

Revenue of Arch Train Doubles Budget Estimate

Net revenue from operation of the Bi-State passenger train in the north leg of the Gateway
Arch over a six-month period was double that anticipated in the operating budget, the Bi-
State agency commissioners were told in regular meeting yesterday.

During the period July 24 through Dec. 31, revenue from operation of the train totaled $229,154, according to a report submitted to the board by Controller James R. Kendrick. Total operating expenses for the period amounted to $73,006, leaving revenue of $156,148.

Interest on revenue bonds amounting to $90,750, deducted from the $156,148, left net revenue of $65,398.

Net revenue for the period estimated in the operating budget had been fixed at $34,785.

Both Trains in May

Meanwhile, Col. R. E. Smyser, executive director of the agency, reported the passenger train in the south leg of the Gateway Arch will be ready about the middle of this month, but will not be put into use until engineers have inspected the system to determine its safety.

Col. Smyser said that as soon as the south leg train is placed in operation, the train in the north leg, which has been operating since last fall, will be shut down to permit completion of an air-conditioning system, a permanent floor and passenger control system. As a result, both trains will not be operating simultaneously until May.

The work on the north leg is expected to require about two months, Col. Smyser said.

Transit System Report

The Bi-State Transit System reported to the board that its total revenue for the period
March 1 through Dec. 31 amounted to $20,214,968, with operating expenses of $17,116,
169, leaving a balance of $2,
$22,225 before payment of fund requirements under the trust indenture. These amounts to $2,719,251, which left a net revenue balance of $19,505,717, an amount $174,689 less than the budgeted balance of $19,680,
The cumulative cash deficiency in the depreciation reserve fund as of Dec. 31 was $753,961, the report said.

Six-months revenue from operation of Bi-State Parks Air-park also exceeded estimates.
The board was told. Total income for the July 1 through
Dec. 31 period amounted to $40,
$000. Operating expenses amounted to $32,499 leaving operating revenue of $7,501.

Resident Dies Tuesday

Virgil L. Hamer, 62, of 44
Haleck drive, Edwardsville, the brother of a Madison resident, died at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at his home. Funeral services will be held Friday.

A resident of Edwardsville for 55 years, Mr. Hamer was survived by his wife, Edna; a son, Alvin Hamer, Edward-ville; three sisters, including
Mrs. Noble (Alma) Caphart of Madison; and two brothers.

Advances from the City of St.
Louis amounted to $75,000 during the six-month period, providing total income of $22,153.
Interest on revenue bonds was $22,850. This left a net revenue balance of $69,202, compared to a budget estimate for the same period of $63,360.

Prof. Wilkins Speaker At ICP Meeting Tuesday

A former state superintendent of public instruction praised the Illinois curriculum program Tuesday for initiating education advancements at both state and national levels.

George T. Wilkins of Granite City, state superintendent from 1959-63 and now associate professor of education at the Southern campus of Southern Illinois University, said the ICP inspired improved curricula throughout Illinois and in many sister states.

He was among several prominent educators and businessmen who spoke at the campus in observance of ICP's 20th anniversary. Also among the educators and presiding at the evening session was Woodrow W. Fishback, director of curriculum development as well as ICP, who was originally appointed as ICP coordinator by Wilkins in 1959.

The commemorative meeting was sponsored by the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, under Ray Page, in collaboration with the Division of Instruction, Department of Curriculum Development and the Illinois Curriculum Council.

Wilkins traced ICP development and commended the appointment of regional curriculum consultants by Page and ICC in 1966. He said the expansion has increased the effectiveness of ICP.

Other speakers included John O'Neill, associate superintendent from Page's office, Harry L. Weibank, chairman of ICC and national training director for Sears, Roebuck and Co. and Fred Elwood, chairman of the department of secondary education at Bradley University.

SIU-SW Computer to Analyze Political Campaign Talks

A Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus computer will be behind the scenes observer and critic the 1968 presidential election campaign and its press coverage.

John W. Ellsworth, associate professor of government and public affairs, will use the computer to compare texts of major campaign speeches with newspaper coverage through press association reports and news stories by political correspondents.

Ellsworth will do a content analysis of speech texts "to see if we are missing something in election reporting."

The study will also try to determine the frequency with which the two major party candidates use aspirational, policy, patriotic and other references during the campaign.

The findings will furnish a "profile" of the candidate's campaign oratory. Ellsworth will analyze speech texts, line by line, feed the data to a computer, then compare the texts with published news stories to see if the points emphasized in the text are the same points emphasized in the newspaper reports.

To prepare for the 1968 campaign, Ellsworth and his graduate assistants have analyzed the acceptance speeches made by John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in 1960 and by Lyndon B. Johnson and Barry Goldwater in 1964. From this study, a system involving seven categories of emphasis has been developed. These categories will be the yardsticks for measuring the oratory of this year's candidates.

No analysis will begin until after the major party conventions. Ellsworth thinks following several candidates through primary campaigns would be too involved a process.

After the last vote is counted, Ellsworth hopes his study will be valuable to historians and political analysts studying the reasons behind the election's outcome.

UF Board Oks Reduction In Agency Allocations

Directors of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund, meeting yesterday in the YMCA, authorized the Admissions and Distributions Committee to set a new allocation schedule for participating agencies to conform with the amount of funds collected in last fall's fund-raising drive. Total contributions this year amounting to $367,245, fell short of the campaign goal by $16,800.

To help avert serious re-budgeting and deep cuts in previously announced allocations, the UF board authorized the transfer of $10,000 from contingency reserves to be used in the overall re-distribution of funds.

In other action, the directors set 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 21, as the time and date of the annual United Fund meeting, with the location to be announced later.

The board also elected George Becker, staff representative in the United States workers district office, as local trustee to the National Association of United Fund and Councils of America, Inc.

Becker, a three-year member of the Tri-Cities UF board of directors and current chairman of the Admissions and Distributions Committee, will represent the local UF agency on the national body as a voting member.

Decision to appoint a trustee from the Tri-Cities UF board was made following a report to the directors by John Solenberger, local UF executive director. Solenberger told the board members that a 1967 revision in the by-laws of the national association, now permits each local agency to elect a trustee.

A. P. Steinhilber, board chairman, presided at yesterday's meeting. Twenty-eight attended.

Progress Noted In Smith Plant Contract Talks

Contract talks between Bollinger Union 575 and A. O. Smith Corp. resumed this morning for the second day in a row amid reports that "some progress" was made yesterday in an eight-hour negotiating session in the U.S. Mediation Services offices, St. Louis.

Union spokesman told the Press-Record this morning that company negotiators had made new proposals toward settlement of dispute over seniority and force reduction issues which previously held up any prospect of settlement, and that there is a possibility "something might be worked out today."

Conservation Dept. Probes Fish Kill

A new heavy fish kill of about 100 pounds of fish in Horseshoe Lake was investigated yesterday by the Illinois Department of Conservation and the information is to be turned over to the Illinois Sanitary Water Board for any further action. It was reported today by William Nichols, a commercial fisherman and operator of Nichols Net & Twine Co. on Bond Road.

Nichols said he reported the kill to the conservation department after he ran ten nets in which he found 90% to 95% of the fish dead. He said all of the ten nets were located in an area of the lake that was red.

Conservation Agent Roy Lockhart of Vandalia made a dead fish count around the lake shore and said the kill definitely resulted from pollution, Nichols said.

MHS Coaches Unwilling To Continue Next Year

Reports that four Madison high school varsity coaches plan to end their coaching here after the 1967-68 year were confirmed this week in an inquiry by the Press-Record.

The resignations are as coaches, not as faculty members. However, transfers to other school systems in order to remain as coaches has not been ruled out in some instances.

Coaches included in the reports are Harland Scheibel, football and track; John Logan, basketball and cross-country; Larry Burns, baseball; and Mike Gravelle, tennis.

Student unrest this fall and school district reaction to it are regarded as the major reasons for the unwillingness to continue MHS coaching duties after the current school year. Any change of mind on the part of the coaches would depend on clarification of existing school policies, it was learned.

Spent Time on Government, Politics

Speaker Smith Challenges Local Retailers

Participation in government by businessmen was urged by Ralph T. Smith (R-Alon), speaker of the House of Representatives of Illinois, a former Granite Cityan, who addressed the 62nd annual dinner meeting of the Associated Retailers & Civic Association Tuesday.

In his talk before 150 retailers and guests at the Rose Bowl, Smith placed special emphasis on the increased expenses of state government and frequently asked, "Would you like to turn back the clock to the good old days?"

He noted that the most often received letter by legislators is one complaining of the ever-increasing cost of government. He noted that Illinois hit a billion dollar operating budget in the 1959-61 biennium and the amount for 1967-68 is three billion. "You can bank on a 10% to 15% increase each year."

Where Tax Funds Go

The social programs, he explained, caused most of the increases with 31.4% of the expenditures for education, 26.3% for health and welfare and 23.3% for highways and traffic safety and the remaining funds for other operational purposes. Smith urged the businessmen to devote their leisure time to government and politics and even to enter the field for the benefit of the state, themselves and their children in years to come.

He stressed that government is a big and important business involving the lives of every person in Illinois and that persons with a sense of responsibility are needed. "Years ago, when the cost of government was cheaper, we didn't need a welfare program with old age pensions and aid to dependent children. "There were no child labor laws and children went to work at the age of six or seven in the factories and mines. The average lifespan was 30 years, and of course, with the children working to help support their families, there was not the need for so many schools."

"Schools now are much finer and better equipped even than when I was going here in Granite City. The quality of education is better; the teachers are better trained, and there are more people. Do you want to turn back the clock on that?"

College Expansion

Smith pointed out that educational costs were increased a half-billion dollars in the last legislative session, and a portion of the funds is to go for expansion of colleges to provide higher education. "We're all living better now, and we're trying to build higher standards. In the health and a welfare field, Smith said mental hospitals no longer are "sanatoriums" and that every effort is made to rehabilitate individuals.

"This requires facilities and trained staffs. Also new in this field are the problems we didn't have a few decades ago—the battles against water and air pollution and water conservation. These costs money."

With longer life spans, he said it was necessary for the legislators to decide if old people should be required to live on limited Social Security income or to be given aid. He added that in the aid to dependent children, the most important word is "children," and how they can be helped.

He touched briefly on the state's entry into the field of vocational rehabilitation as a necessity in modern life to train people in skills so they can become self-sufficient.

Retailers Elect

In the business portion of the annual meeting, Irvin Slate served as master of ceremonies, and the association members elected officers. "The slate, recommended by Homer Huber of the nominating committee, was elected by ac-

Terry Francis Making Bid For Representative

Terry W. Francis, Granite City attorney, is announcing that he will be a candidate in the June 11 primary election for a Democratic nomination as state representative of the 55th district.

Francis announced his candidacy as the 1968 political campaign began taking shape in the Quad-City area and Madison county. Positions have been placed in circulation by several potential candidates for county and district offices.

A wide-open legislative race appears in the making on the Democratic ticket due to recent announcement by State Rep. Lloyd "Curly" Harris of Granite City that he does not plan to seek re-election this year. Rep. Harris is a veteran legislator of 32 years service in the Illinois House whose voting strength has precluded extensive opposition in previous years.

Third to Announce Francis, 39, is the third Democratic candidate to announce plans to seek the legislative post. Harry Briggs, supervisor of Nameoki township, and Robert Ford, assistant supervisor of Wood River township, announced earlier that they will make the race for Rep. Harris' post. Attorney Horace Calvo is regarded as a possible candidate.

State Rep. Leland J. Kennedy of Alton has announced he will seek re-election in this year's balloting. Rep. Kennedy is now completing his 14th year in the House.

Francis served four years on the Madison county board of supervisors from 1964 through 1966, and was state campaign manager for U. S. Sen. Paul Douglas in 1961. He also is a commissioner of the Illinois-Missouri Bi-State Development Agency under appointment by Gov. Otto Kern, having held that post for the past two years.

Lifelong Resident Born in Granite City, Francis has resided here all his life except for service as a Navy officer during the Korean war. Married and the father of four children, he has law offices at 2740 Madison avenue.

Attending Granite City schools, he holds a bachelor of arts degree in political science from the University of Kansas and a law degree from Washington University, St. Louis. He is a licensed attorney in Illinois and Missouri.

A downstate representative of Sen. Douglas from 1960 until 1966, Francis was active in the state election campaigns of Adlai Stevenson when he ran for president in 1966, Steve Mitchell, a candidate for governor, and Adlai Stevenson III, present state treasurer.

Francis commented that the district consisting of Alton, Wood River, Chouteau, Nameoki, Granite City, Venice and Collinsville townships "is an area of tremendous growth and the potential is even greater. It needs metropolitan planning now."

"My association with Bi-State has convinced me that the commission approach to metropolitan problems, as now constituted, is often unsatisfactory and undemocratic. However, many problems do have to be handled on an area basis. I have approached problems on an area basis and try to think in terms of what is good for the metropolitan area."

Consumer Legislation

"Main types of legislation I

TERRY W. FRANCIS

would be interested in sponsoring are further consumer laws, including state truth-in-lending and truth-in-packaging proposals.

"Further legislation is needed regulating the so-called high risk, high premium auto liability insurance companies, particularly those that refuse to pay legitimate claims to innocent third parties."

"I believe the opportunity to set aside and preserve adequate parks and recreation facilities for a fast expanding population is passing us by, and I would be active in promoting the Lewis and Clark state park and other facilities in this metropolitan area."

"An area of special concern is the inadequacy of our present laws to deal with irresponsible fathers who have deserted their families. Under present divorce laws, it is virtually impossible to compel a man to live up to the responsibility incurred when he brings a child into the world."

Clean Air, State Job Training

"While I am not going to take credit for the wonderful work my wife, Jean, has been doing in the Citizens' Committee for Clean Air, I favor legislation which would accomplish the purpose she seeks. I would seek laws to retrain the unemployed and underemployed at a state level; I do not feel the state at this time is doing enough for the underprivileged to assist them in finding gainful employment."

"I believe poverty and discrimination are root causes of crime in the streets. I also believe the police should be strengthened to deal with this problem, but I feel strongly that the best way to accomplish this is to provide police academies to train them to deal with criminals."

"I would seek legislation to develop the industrial complex so that the St. Louis metropolitan area no longer was so completely dependent upon McDonnell Aircraft and war production for its livelihood."

"My intention is to take my campaign to the people. My wife and I plan to go door to door throughout the district."

"The duty of a representative is to represent; unless he is able and willing to find out the problems and needs of the people, he cannot do his job. I would try to establish regular hours at various places in the district where people could contact me regarding legislation."

"I would also try to keep people within the district informed about what is going on in Springfield," Francis said.

Wendell Durr, Edwardsville attorney, was reported circulating petitions as a candidate for state's attorney on the Democratic ticket. Durr served as an assistant state's attorney for nine months in 1965. He is now city attorney of Troy.

City Gets OK To Use Nameoki Drainage Ditch

Permission for Granite City to discharge stormwater drainage into the Nameoki Drainage ditch as a phase of the city's proposed new sewer project was approved without discussion this morning by board trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

Meeting in special session, the board authorized a letter of permission to be issued to the city by its engineering department on recommendation of William "Mike" Ebersold, Venice, a Madison county member of the board. Motion for approval was made by Joseph Grant of Granite City, the other Madison county member of the levee board and Ebersold gave his second to the motion.

The request for use of the ditch was delayed by the board in its regular meeting in early January on grounds that enlargement and improvement of the canal would be necessary to handle the increased flow of drainage that would result from the Granite City sewer.

Rainy Weather This Week Stalls Mothers' Marches

Inclement weather Monday evening forced many volunteers soliciting donations in the annual "Mothers' Porchlight March Against Birth Defects" to delay visiting families until subsequent evenings, especially in rural areas, according to March of Dimes leaders.

Mrs. Bernadine Hagnauer, general chairman of the Granite City campaign, said the city had advised volunteers to continue visiting homes each evening this week until all areas have been covered. She added that contributions turned in to area captains are being deposited with her at home.

Mrs. Julia Voteki, Madison drive chairman, reported most Mothers' Marchers in Madison have completed their home visits. However, some collections still are expected from the West Madison area.

Contributions received during the Mothers' Marches to date are estimated at $2500 in Granite City and $457 in Madison.

LEON G. SCROGGINS

Leon Scroggins In Demo Primary As State's Atty.

Leon G. Scroggins of Granite City, who has served as Madison county state's attorney by appointment for the past year, announced today that he will seek the Democratic nomination for the office in this year's primary election on June 11.

Scroggins, 36, also served as an assistant state's attorney and chief assistant state's attorney of Madison County and is a former assistant U. S. district attorney.

He was appointed state's attorney by unanimous vote of the county board of supervisors and began serving in the office Jan. 1, 1967. He succeeded Joseph Bartylak, who resigned the post.

Scroggins is a graduate of Vanderbilt University School of Law and holds a bachelor of arts degree from Southern Illinois University. He served with the U. S. Air Force four years as a member of the flight crew of a B-36. He is married to the former Beverly Fosselock of Granite City and has two sons. He lives at 2504 Roney drive.

Reduced Case Load
In announcing his candidacy, Scroggins said that under his direction the criminal case load in Madison county has been reduced from a "staggering figure" to a number that can be docketed for trial. He invited any voter to consult any member of the board of supervisors as to his work record since assuming the office a year ago.

He pointed out that his office has held numerous conferences with the sheriff's office and police departments of the county to interpret existing laws and new Supreme Court decisions to facilitate more effective law enforcement in Madison county. He said it has become increasingly important that the chief prosecutor have experience in the field of prosecution because of recent Supreme Court Decisions affecting and limiting the powers of police officers.

Scroggins also referred to his record as a strong advocate of air pollution control. He said he has proposed to the county board of supervisors an air pollution control ordinance which is considered.

Unsound Federal Policies Main Reason For the Weakened Dollar

A couple of weeks ago we commented on the right of an American citizen to travel where he wished, conditioned only by the willingness of a foreign country to receive him. We criticized the government's use of its citizens as foreign policy pawns by controlling their travel through passport restrictions.

Now, from a new direction, comes the threat of still further restrictions on American's travel—this time, supposedly, for "economic" rather than foreign policy reasons.

To help keep the American dollar sound and reduce the balance of payments deficit, President Johnson, at his New Years Day news conference, said he was asking Americans not to travel outside the Western Hemisphere.

It was more than a request. He said that he was asking Americans to travel outside the Western Hemisphere.

The avowed purpose is to stop the flow of American dollars to foreign lands.

It is the demands of foreign governments on the United States gold supply coupled with inflationary domestic trends, that put the United States dollar in an increasingly unstable position.

By cutting foreign investment, reducing government expenditures overseas, and restricting American's travel abroad, President Johnson hopes to keep more American dollars at home. Three billion of them, in fact.

This, in essence, is what he said at his news conference.

Had he been completely truthful, however, he would have said:

"I and my predecessors of the past three decades have miserably managed your tax money that we are in serious difficulty."

"We have continuously, and at an increasing pace, spent more money than we have taken in even though we have steadily extracted more money out of your pocketbook."

"We have allowed foreign governments, which are not our friends, to drain large sums of money, to drain our gold reserves without demanding that they make good on their debts."

"We have undertaken the operation of the United Nations with your money while many countries have not paid their legal dues and assessments."

"We have committed ourselves to billions of dollars of overseas investments—with no significant return—while closing our eyes to pressing domestic problems."

"Because we have spent so wildly and unwisely, and because we have been unwilling to cut our financial excesses—both at home and abroad—we are faced with a severe inflation."

"We could halt this inflation by curtailing our expenditures."

"We could stop our flow of gold overseas by forcing that foreign countries meet their obligations to us and assist in the task of financial development of the underdeveloped nations."

"For 30 years we have watched Great Britain go from the world's leading power to a second-rate one—and followed in her footsteps, making the same foolish mistakes as the British."

"Although our policies of the past 30 years have been wrong and foolish, we do not intend to change them; indeed, we may accelerate them."

"If you'll have to make up for our mistakes. Stay at home. And if you don't, we'll pass laws that will keep you at home."

That, to us, is what it seems President Johnson was actually saying.

Not long ago President Johnson called upon all citizens to write their Congressmen urging Congress pass a 10% tax increase.

In an informal poll of Congressmen, the National Broadcasting Co. learned that out of 200,000 Americans, only one actually wrote supporting the president—and that particular person paid no tax any way.

We hope the President's proposed travel restrictions meet with equal enthusiasm from the country as a whole.

Three-Day Waiting Period to Buy Gun; ID Cards Required July

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

You can buy a gun today, but you cannot take possession of it for 72 hours. Under one of Illinois' new gun laws, the seller must wait 72 hours before delivery for the 72-hour waiting period.

The law is designed to discourage the impulse purchase-and-use-of guns.

In this way the lawmakers hope to prevent crimes of passion and such crimes as suicide and those resulting from mental depression.

Categories of persons who may not purchase guns under any circumstances include:

1. No one under 18 may purchase a pistol.

2. Young people under 21, if convicted for any misdemeanor other than a traffic offense, are adjudged delinquent.

3. Narcotic addicts.

4. Anyone convicted of a felony under the laws of Illinois or of any other state within the previous five years, or confined to a penitentiary within the same period.

5. Anyone who has been a patient in a mental institution within the past five years.

6. The mentally retarded.

Since a dealer shall not knowingly sell a gun to any person, he has a moral responsibility to make some reasonable inquiry into the background of any would-be purchaser.

However, when the new gun registration law goes into effect July 1, 1968, the primary responsibility for determining the eligibility of gun purchasers will rest with the Department of Public Safety.

The Department will issue a Firearm Owners' Identification Card only to those applicants who do not fit any of the categories of those prohibited by law from acquiring or possessing firearms.

Also, no applicant under 21 years old will be issued a card unless he has the written consent of a parent or guardian who holds a valid Firearm Owner's ID card.

Anyone who buys or carries any firearm or ammunition without having a registration card will be subject to a fine of up to $100, imprisonment for up to one year, or both.

The 72-hour waiting period applies equally to the sale of guns by private owners.

Even an antique gun, capable of being fired or of being made serviceable, falls within the terms of this waiting period and, after July 1, may not be transferred to a person who does not have a Firearm Owner's ID card.

Research Goal-End Birth Defects

(American Institute of Biological Sciences)

Dr. Edward L. Tatum, professor at Rockefeller University and Nobel Laureate in Medicine and Physiology, believes that prevention of birth defects is a proper, essential, and ultimately obtainable objective for biological scientists.

Dr. Tatum, who shared the 1958 Nobel prize in medicine for his work in genetics, wrote in the 1967 Annual Report of the National Foundation, March of Dimes, goals for the explanation of the principle on which his hope is based:

He said, "There appear to be two main classes of genes which determine the structure of enzymes and other proteins, and regulatory genes, which control the activity of the primary genes."

"We have evidence that the body normally 'turns on' some genes and 'turns off' others to meet its biological needs."

"It may be that certain chemical agents, hormones perhaps, can be used to regulate this process at will by repressing the activity of an undesired gene and reactivating a desired inactive gene."

Dr. Tatum added that, given further advances in biochemistry and genetics, faulty primary genes and faulty regulatory genes could be redesigned and synthesized.

With more complete knowledge of cell biology and the processes by which genetic material is integrated into the cells, these redesigned genes could be incorporated into chromosomes.

"When that happens," Dr. Tatum declared, "genetic engineering, which includes the primary prevention of birth defects—will be just around the corner."

Key Role by Col. Hoskin in Federal Agency Leadership For This Region

The role of Col. Charles E. Hoskin III in calling attention to businessmen's expanded opportunity to employ the seemingly unemployable—those with personality, environmental, educational or skill problems—also spotlights the broader function he is fulfilling.

Commanding officer of the Granite City Army Depot and chairman of the Employment Task Force of East St. Louis, he is also serving as vice-chairman and senior Illinois coordinator of the Federal Executive Board of St. Louis.

The latter board consists of the heads of 180 federal agencies with staffs exceeding 35,000 persons in this metropolitan region.

The tasks being carried out by Col. Hoskin reflect his ability and dedication and also recognize that the local military base is one of the chief Department of Defense installations in the bi-state area.

McCambridge Turn Too Hazardous

The Edwardsville road-McCambridge avenue intersection in Madison always has been dangerous and the toll of damage and injury from traffic accidents there may be increasing.

Crashes recorded during the past month included Jan. 11, Jan. 13, Jan. 21, Jan. 26, Jan. 27 and a second collision on Jan. 27 that injured five persons, three of them so extensively that they were admitted for hospitalization.

With the two streets intersecting at an acute angle and most motorists apparently unaware of it, it is understandable that dangers exist. Every car has an option of making a turn or going straight and more than one driver is permitted to proceed.

Some revision of the control devices or the design of the intersection should be considered by the city and state.

Cultivate good habits; the bad ones grow wild.

The FORUM

HAVE PEOPLE FORGOTTEN COOLIDGE AND HOOVER?

To the Editor:

I would like to make a few comments on the President's State of the Union message and on what the spokesmen for the Republican party have to say about it.

As usual they found fault with everything he said and did, and proposed or suggested—and on top of that found fault with a lot of things that the Republican party has to say about it.

Especially would I like to ask both Republican senators from Michigan: Do they think that the people can't remember back a few years? I am 63 years of age and can remember several years back and have worked with my hands for a living all my adult life.

Do they think that all the people have forgotten how the administration of Harding and that he said that too much organized labor was a mild form of Communism?

Do they think that all people have forgotten the administration of silent Cal Coolidge and how he sided with big business in busting many unions as they could by not raising his voice against it?

Do they think that all the people have forgotten the administration of Hoover and how he refused to help the millions of people in America who were starving to death in the first place?

Do they think that the people have forgotten what the Democratic administration under Roosevelt did immediately when he came into office to feed the starving people?

Do they think that the world war I veterans have forgotten that when they marched to Washington to attempt to collect their world war I bonus that Hoover ordered machine guns turned on them?

I think it was either three or four veterans were killed. I buried a very personal friend a few weeks ago who was in the war I bonus march and personally viewed the dead bodies.

Do they think that all the people have forgotten how the Republicans lined up against Social Security?

I sat in my living room and heard Robert Taft on the radio attack Social Security and called President Roosevelt a political crackpot. He said such a system would not work in America and would create a generation of shiftless people.

This same Robert Taft in later years narrowly missed being nominated for president of the United States on the Republican ticket.

Do they think that all the people have forgotten how the vast majority of the Republicans opposed unemployment compensation? Do they think that all the people have forgotten how the Republicans fought the formation of the Labor Relations Board?

Do they think that all the people have forgotten how the Republicans lined up with the medical association to beat Medicare?

Do they think that all the people have forgotten that the Democrats were very popular, for instance Social Security and unemployment compensation, that the Republicans literally ran over each other to either get on the baggage or else keep their mouth shut?

We hear a lot of talk about how good it is and how much the country needs a two-party system, and I agree with that idea 100%.

By the same token, Republicans should get off the antique shelf.

The sooner they realize that the "big" and "little" you and the horse and buggy days are both gone forever, the better off we will be.

FLOYD MILLER, 2451 Missouri avenue, St. Louis.

SOLDIER APPRECIATES HOLIDAY CARDS, LETTERS

I want to express my thanks for the many Christmas cards and letters that I have received during the warm-hearted and thoughtful period of my local community.

During the holidays I am anxious to rid the area of mosquitoes, weeds and foul

Commerce Commission Action Needed For Underpass to Become a Reality

The Illinois Commerce Commission has a responsibility to act this month to make sure that the city of Venice does not scrap the Broadway underpass project.

Venice officials would hate to discard the train-auto grade separation plan they have labored so many years to carry out, but they face a long-range financial outlook so bleak that they may have little choice in the matter.

The ICC can salvage the underpass by ordering participating railroads to put up the same 14.4% of the cost indicated in its original order four years ago.

The city has steadily increased its pledged contribution due to the inflationary spiral and there is no reason why the railroads should not bear their proportionate cost, despite the fact that the previous order listed a monetary figure rather than a percentage. Some of the delay has been attributed to the railroads' revision of the underpass design.

Especially now that the Illinois Division of Highways has scheduled the underpass for construction this summer, it would be a shame to see the badly-needed traffic improvement delayed at the "eleventh hour."

Important Land Use, Facilities Meetings

Meetings are scheduled for 7 o'clock tonight and 7 p.m. next Wednesday in the Granite City council room to review preliminary zoning revisions, land use and transportation maps and a community facilities plan.

Comprehensive planning is important to any community, and broad participation in it can improve its soundness and assure the necessary later support when the objectives are being carried out. With this in mind, all who may have a suggestion on future needs should arrange their schedules in order to attend.

250th GCHS Wrestling Victory

That William Schmitt of the Granite City high school faculty is nationally recognized as a wrestling authority is not surprising, judging by the 250-victory milestone attained by Warrior teams during the 18 years he has coached them.

With only 19 losses and three ties in dual meet competition during that time, including a state championship, the record is probably unmatched anywhere. And it is even more impressive in view of the GCHS policy of scheduling meets with the strongest teams that can be found throughout Illinois and Missouri.

New Mark Twain Play To Premiere at SIU

A new play about Mark Twain (Samuel Langhorne Clemens), beloved Mississippi river humorist, will be given its Illinois premiere Feb. 7-11 at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Written by Bernard Sabath of Northwestern University, "The Man Who Lost the River" focusses on the last 24 hours of Clemens' life as he waited for the return of Hailie's Comet to signal his own death. But even in his disillusionment and cynicism, he began to create another youthful figure in the realm of the immortal Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn.

Convinced that he, born at the first coming of the comet, would die at its second appearance 75 years later, Clemens fulfilled his destiny, but not before he recaptured the vision of eternal youth in his characters.

Language Center Aids SIU Foreign Students

At the center of Southern Illinois University's Carbondale campus a world war II barracks building houses a language center where people of different tongues receive intensive training in English.

About 85 students from 17 countries spend five hours a day attending classes and listening to tape recorders in the Center for English as a Second Language, called CESL for short.

Most of the students come from non-European countries to seek college education in this country. Joseph H. Friend, SIU professor of English and director of the center, said. Some are businessmen who hope to improve their English proficiency in order to better their position to engage in trade with Americans and other English-speaking people, Friend added.

He will continue to attend the University to complete work for his Doctorate Degree, where he also is employed as a teachers assistant. During this summer he will teach at Washington University.

Rhonda Dycus Cast In Play at State School
Rhonda Dycus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Bickell of 4730 Lake drive, is a member of the cast of a three-act play to be presented at the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School in Jacksonville on Friday.

The play, "Me and My Shadow" by J. Vincent Barrett, is being produced by special arrangement with the Hour Publishing Co. of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The suspense-comedy concerns the misadventures of Roy Harrington, a young attorney, after he saves the life of an exotic Hindu girl.

New Housing Service Established at SIU

A new division in the office of the dean of students at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has inaugurated a two-way avenue designed to benefit both student and renter.

Loretta K. Ott, assistant dean for commuter, married, and graduate services, said the function of the office is to learn needs of these groups of students and determine how to meet them.

Just started is a brand new service of listing privately-owned apartments, rooms, houses, trailers and trailer space for use by graduate and married students. Much of the listing shows space currently available but J. Lee Chenoweth, in charge of housing facilities in Dean Ott's office, is especially proud of a listing of apartments that can be reserved by graduate and married students for the summer and the 1968-69 academic year that begins in September.

The latter listing is presently small, but Chenoweth is optimistic it will mushroom once the University community and the renters learn about it. Listed are owners, their addresses and telephone numbers, descriptions of quarters and rent prices.

Madison County Public Aid Total Down in November

Illinois public aid payments to 9034 Madison county recipients during November totaled $719,062, or $107,538 less than October payments of $826,600, but still reflected substantial increases because of growing medical allocations, a report by Harold O. Swank, director of the Illinois Department of Public Aid showed this week.

November payments in Madison county declined below October in old age assistance by almost $200,000, but increases were reported in all other categories of aid, including aid to dependent children, blind assistance, disability pensions and general assistance.

One of the more substantial increases was made in payments for general assistance. November payments were made to 1192 clients compared to 960 in October, and amounted to $33,162 compared to $19,582 paid out for this purpose in October.

A total of 742 persons received disability pensions in November, only one more than in October, but payments amounted to $115,688 compared to $101,094 in October. Thirty-eight persons received blind pensions totaling $3270 in November, compared to payments of $3204 to 34 pensioners in October.

ADC costs up. Major increase in November payments was to 5627 recipients of aid to dependent children totaling $300,528. In October 5569 ADC recipients received $288,484. Disability pensions also rose in November from an October payment of $101,094 for 741 pensioners to a November figure of $115,688 for 742 recipients.

Blind pension payments rose only slightly from an October payment of $3204 to 34 recipients to $3270 for 38 recipients.

Old age assistance payments to 1435 clients in November amounted to $246,134, compared to payments of $244,356 to 1429 clients in October.

At the state level, an increase of 3432 recipients brought the case load to 459,968 persons in November, compared to 456,236 in October. The current case load is 45,529 above the November 1966 total of 410,539 persons.

Expenditures for November 1967 were $33,551,045, compared to $38,407,535 in October, but still $5 millions higher than costs in November 1966.

Careless Driving Charge

Larry W. Anderson, 3032 Iowa street, was charged with careless driving in the 2:30 p.m. Monday.

Improper Trailer Use

Myron Keller, 2112 Nevada street, was arrested at 2 p.m. Monday on a charge of maintaining a trailer as living quarters on a tract not licensed as a trailer court.

Battery in Auto Stolen

A 12-volt battery was stolen from a 1966 auto owned by Harold Lloyd, 3250 Wabash avenue, while the car was parked at his home Sunday, he reported Monday.

'68 Auto License Plate Deadline Growing Near

Illinois motorists now have just two weeks remaining in which to obtain their 1968 auto license plates and display them on their vehicles, Secretary of State Paul Powell warned today.

The deadline of Thursday midnight, Feb. 15, means having the plates mounted, not merely applied for or carrying.

them in the car, he said.

The approximate 3 million plates already delivered is an increase of 300,000 over the same time a year ago, but total registration expected to be in excess of 5 million, and there still are many motorists who do not yet have their plates.

Applications are being processed, faster than in previous years, but the plates are classified as third-class mail which can result in a two-to-three-week delivery period.

Funds for Locks Work In Federal Budget

An appropriation of $125,000 for repair of the locks at the Chain of Rocks Canal is requested in the proposed federal budget for the 1969 fiscal year. Cong. Melvin Price, (D) East St. Louis, reported today.

He said the fund is among a total of $7,525,000 in public works and flood control funds requested for the Madison-St. Clair county area. They include $6.4 million for the Kaskaskia River Navigation project and $1 million for the Mississippi River regulating works.

Other area projects include $6,870,000 for the Shelbyville Reservoir and $5.5 million for the Rend Lake Reservoir. In addition $6.4 million has been requested for the St. Louis flood control program, Cong. Price said. He said he plans to appear before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works in support of the projects.

Bond Market, Laws Block Port Expansion

Spiraling interest rates in the current bond market and a state legal limit on rates that may be paid by municipal agencies has blocked expansion of the Tri-City Regional Port District and will continue to do so until legislative relief can be obtained, according to Carl Ranft, manager of the Port District.

Ranft said that while the 1967 General Assembly raised the maximum allowable interest rate of the Port District from 5% to 6%, the bond market is such today that "I don't believe we could interest any corporation or group in a bond package with a 6% interest rate limitation... the potential customers are well enough advised to know that such an issue would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to sell at this time."

In a detailed report filed with the Illinois Economic Commission which is now conducting hearings on the troubles of public agencies, business and industry, Ranft noted that under these conditions the only projects that can be contemplated by the Port District are those that can be financed by private means.

Growth Rate Unsatisfactory

He said that while the Port District has shown some progress "we are not satisfied with the rate of growth. We have learned from experience that for every facility that locates within the port, we may conduct interviews with 200 or more prospects. This is not at all uncommon in any industrial development."

Ranft noted that the only means of financing open to the Tri-City Regional Port Authority is from issuance of revenue bonds supported by potential revenue of the facility to be installed, or from sale of general obligation bonds.

Some port operations include warehousing that requires such things as separation, bagging, stamping, shaping and forming, along with certain processing, must be financed under present state laws with private capital, Ranft said, while the nearby states of Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana and Michigan have authority to finance industrial or manufacturing facility bonds.

Illinois municipalities cannot compete with these states in financing procedure, Ranft said. He said the Tri-City Regional Port District has been fortunate in the issuance several years ago of $720,000 in revenue bonds with which it financed construction of a tank terminal facility for handling liquids and gases. Other facilities have come into the port on a privately financed basis, he noted.

6% Not Sufficient

"However, in the light of development since that time, we now find that we are not able to market bonds even at the 6% rate."

"A-rated bonds recently issued by the City of New York carried a rate of 6%, while there are other 'A' rated securities that are not selling at 6%."

Quad-Cityans Paying Almost Half of Tax Bill for Operation of Levee District

Quad-City taxpayers provided 44% of the total tax distribution of $1,862,969 to the East Side Levee and Sanitary district during 1967, according to statistics based on the district's 1967 annual report released earlier this week.

Taxes received from the Madison county area of the levee district amounted to $823,731, the report showed, while taxes received from the St. Clair county area totaled $1,049,228. During the previous year of 1966, however, Madison county taxpayers paid slightly more than 50% of the total tax distribution to the levee district—a total of $969,926 compared to $857,460 allocated by St. Clair county taxpayers.

Combined payments for the two-year period credit Madison county taxpayers with payment of a total of $1,798,657 in levee district taxes, compared to total payments of $2,006,688 by taxpayers in the more heavily populated St. Clair county area. As a result, Madison county paid 47% of the taxes received by the levee district for the 1966 and 1967 years.

St. Clair Tax Delayed
On the basis of the district's annual reports, statistics show that tax distributions from the Quad-City area which comprises virtually all of the Madison county section of the district have been made on a current basis, while those from St.

Clair county are, for the most part, a year behind schedule. During 1967 the levee district received St. Clair county taxes only from the county collector and none from township collectors who customarily handle local distribution of current tax collections. The payments from the St. Clair county collector included only a small portion of current 1966 taxes.

Payments from the county collector during the year included one in the amount of $806,551 in 1965 and 1966 taxes; a payment of $101,335 in 1965 taxes, another of $15,000 in 1965 taxes and a final payment of $126,342, also in 1965 taxes. Madison county payments, however, were virtually all in current tax collections for the 1966 year. These included payments of $632,906 in 1966 taxes by Granite City township, $80,323 in 1966 taxes by Nameoki township, $83,205 in a final settlement of 1965 taxes by the Madison county collector, and additional payments of $8147 by Chouteau township, $3529 by Granite City township, $162 by Edwardsville township and $359 by Collinsville township, all in current 1966 taxes.

On Current Basis
In 1966, the levee district received only one distribution of St. Clair county taxes, a total of $857,460 representing 1964 and 1965 taxes. Madison county was on a current basis for that one year also, making distribution of 1965 tax collections that included $655,492 from Granite City township, $86,655 from Nameoki township, $124,036 from Venice township, $327 from Collinsville township, $8020 from Chouteau township and $393 from Edwardsville township. A settlement of 1964 taxes amounting to $95,113 was paid the district by the Madison county collector.

On this basis Madison county taxpayers are paying almost twice as much on a per capita basis for levee district operation as St. Clair county taxpayers. Estimated population of the Madison county portion of the district is 65,000 persons, while estimated population of the St. Clair county portion of the district is 129,000.

Third Order by U. S. Court Ends 3-Year Tax Battle

Madison county's three-year court fight to save more than $1.5 millions in taxes protested by 12 railroads came to an end Monday afternoon when the U. S. Supreme Court denied a petition for rehearing in an appeal filed by Burton C. Bernard, Granite City attorney representing 14 school districts.

Bernard told the Press-Record: "Everything must come to an end... there is no further legal recourse."

Monday's Supreme Court denial of a new hearing thus concluded a court fight that began in circuit court at Edwardsville in 1964 when the 12 rail lines operating in the county sought refund of taxes paid over a five-year period, 1957 through 1961, on grounds their property assessments were excessive.

The railroads based their claims for refunds on allegations that their property had been assessed on a ratio of 100% of fair cash value, while those of individual property owners in Madison county had been assessed on ratios of 50% to 60% of full value.

Hearings continued for several months before Circuit Judge James O. Monroe, who eventually ruled in favor of the county, although some small refunds were granted the railroads. The railroads appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court and won reversal of Monroe's decision along with a judgment for the full amount of refunds they sought, in excess of $1.5 million.

Bernard then took the case to the U. S. Supreme court where he sought a review of the case. The high court denied that plea in May 1966.

Although the decision of the Illinois Supreme Court was made final following the U. S. high court denial for review, Bernard filed a second appeal plea with the U. S. court on grounds the case involved a violation of the 14th amendment of the U. S. Constitution, namely discrimination in property tax valuations against non-railroad property owners.

This plea also was turned down last December when the high court approved a motion for dismissal filed by the railroads. The high court said it did not have jurisdiction in the case.

Bernard filed a new plea with the U. S. court—a petition for its own decision to reject the appeal. The third refusal of the court was announced Monday afternoon.

When the hearings first began in 1964, Bernard served as a special assistant state's attorney of Madison county representing a number of taxing agencies that would have shared in the protested taxes had the county won its fight. After the judgment favoring the railroads was made permanent by the first U. S. court rejection of the county appeal, other taxing agencies withdrew from the case because most of the tax money would go to the school districts.

Bernard then was retained by 14 of the county's school districts to continue the fight in their behalf. The Alton school district was the only district in the county that did not participate in the plan to continue litigation.

This change in the law is expected to make payable $60 million in the first 12 months to about 65,000 persons who have not been able to work long enough to become eligible for disability benefits on their own work records following the death of a wage earner. If you believe that you or someone in your family may be eligible under these changes in the law, get in touch with us at our office. The address is 620 Missouri avenue, R. o. m. 104, East St. Louis. The phone numbers are 274-2200 or 397-8300.

Social Security Amendments Aid Women

By Ralph Brashear
Of the Social Security
Office, East St. Louis

Among the changes in the social security program recently signed into law by President Johnson are a number of special significance to women.

Chief among them is a change that will make about 175,000 children eligible for monthly payments. It changes the conditions for determining dependency upon a working mother.

Until now, for a child to be considered dependent upon his mother and therefore eligible for monthly payments when she died, retired or became disabled, she needed to have worked under social security for at least 1½ years out of the last three years, unless she was actually supporting the child.

The amendments eliminate this recent work requirement. Beginning with checks in March 1968, benefits are payable to the child of a woman worker who has died, retired or become entitled to social security disability benefits if she has accumulated enough social security credit to be "fully insured," whether or not those credits were for recent work under social security.

Some widowers who were dependent on a wife at the time of the wife's death and some husbands who were dependent on a wife at the time of her retirement or disability also may now get benefits under this provision.

Benefits at 50
Another very important change in the law makes it possible for the disabled widow, or disabled divorced wife, of a worker to receive disability benefits beginning at age 50. This provision also applies to the disabled widower who was dependent upon his wife at the time of her death.

Under the old law, a widow could not get social security benefits until she reached 60, unless she had in her care a child who was entitled to payments based on her husband's earnings.

Now a widow whose husband has worked long enough under social security can be eligible for monthly benefits as early as age 50 if she is severely "disabled." A widow is considered "disabled" if she has a mental or physical impairment so severe that it keeps her from performing any gainful activity, and the condition has lasted (or is expected to last) 12 months or longer. Age, education and work experience, which are considered in the case of the disabled worker, are not considered.

In general, you can be eligible for widows benefits only if your disability started before or within seven years after your husband's death. However, if you received benefits as a widow with children, you could be eligible for the new benefits if your disability started before the other payments ended, or within seven years after they ended.

Payments can start with the seventh full month of your disability. The first month for which benefits can be paid is March 1968.

If you were divorced from your husband before his death after 20 or more years of marriage, but were receiving support from him at the time of his death (or he was under a court order to provide support), you may also be eligible for the new benefits.

The amount may be as low as 50% of the benefit the deceased worker would have received, or may be as high as 82½%, depending on the age at which the widow begins to get benefits. For example, if you became disabled at age 50 and began receiving disability benefits, you would receive 50% of the amount your husband would have received; if you started getting benefits at age 55 it would be 60½%.

As under the old law, the full amount of a widow's benefit—payable at 82½% of your deceased husband's retirement benefit, if you start receiving widow's disability benefits at an earlier age under the new law, the reduced rate will continue after age 62 as well.

Perhaps your iron isn't ob-never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the
